Karl's history begins with his early years growing up in Finland beginning in 1927. These were tumultuous years during which his country was at war with Russia and his family was forced to evacuate Finnish Karelia. It follows Karl's travels to Canada as a young man in pursuit of education, working his way across the country as a labourer to support himself. Karl goes on to pursue a career in social work, contributing to both the development of the School of Social Work and Gerontological Studies at McMaster University. Karl's lifelong dedication to sports, particularly cross-country skiing is highlighted in his remarkable life story."--pub. website.
